Dr. Herbert Graf came from Europe to Philadelphia last fall to take the stage direction of the opera of the Philadelphia Orchestra Association. He was director of the Municipal Opera and also the leader of the Opera School at Frankfurt-am-Main.

Dr. Graf has developed new and modern ideas in staging operas and also in a new kind of performance in the Opera School. He was associated also with the operas in Breslau, Germany; Basel, Switzerland, and Prague, Czechoslovakia. After leaving Philadelphia Dr. Graf goes directly to the Firenze Festival, Italy, in May, staging Mozart's opera "Escape from the Seraglio" with the Vienna State Opera, Bruno Walter conducting.

THE MARY GASTON BARNWELL FOUNDATION

The Mary Gaston Barnwell Foundation, a unique institution in the annals of public education in America, owes its existence to the late James G. Barnwell, a graduate of the 16th Class, Central High School, who became Librarian of the University of Pennsylvania (1884-1886) and the Library Company of Philadelphia (1887-1907). Retiring at the age of 74, he lived until February 23, 1919, ten days after his 86th birthday. In his Will he wrote:

"Whatever reputation and success I have attained, however moderate, being the result, under Providence of two causes. First, the training of a good mother who always inculcated and practiced the highest principles of honor and especially of moral courage regardless of immediate or apparent results, and Secondly, to the education which I received in the Public Schools of Philadelphia and especially in the Central High School. I wish to honor the memory of that mother by practically encouraging and rewarding the practice of the same high principles by the Students and Graduates of the School."

Mr. Barnwell left his entire residuary estate, amounting to upwards of $320,000 for the benefit of the students and the graduates of the Central High School of Philadelphia. This Trust is named the Mary Gaston Barnwell Foundation, in honor of the Testator's mother, and is administered by the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Company as Trustee. Under the Plan of Administration, a Committee of three members, consisting of the President of the Central High School, the President of the Associated Alumni, and the President of the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Company, is an ex-officio Advisory Committee.

The Foundation became operative in 1922 and has initiated various activities to carry out the intentions of the Testator. In addition to establishing a Lectureship in Ethics and making grants for the purchase of appropriate books for the Central High School Library, it established the Barnwell Honor Roll of meritorious students and co-operated with the Associated Alumni in the erection of two concrete grandstands on Houston Field, the School's athletic grounds.

The Barnwell Course of Addresses by notable leaders in education, letters, art, music, athletics, and allied fields of interest was begun in March, 1922. A complete list of the Barnwell speakers and their subjects forms part of this program. At the present time there are usually four Barnwell Addresses during the school year.

THE MARY GASTON BARNWELL FOUNDATION

The Mary Gaston Barnwell Foundation, a unique institution in the annals of public education in America, owes its existence to the late James G. Barnwell, a graduate of the 16th Class, Central High School, who became Librarian of the University of Pennsylvania (1884-1886) and the Library Company of Philadelphia (1887-1907). Retiring at the age of 74, he lived until February 23, 1919, ten days after his 86th birthday. In his Will he wrote:

"Whatever reputation and success I have attained, however moderate, being the result, under Providence of two causes. First, the training of a good mother who always inculcated and practiced the highest principles of honor and especially of moral courage regardless of immediate or apparent results, and Secondly, to the education which I received in the Public Schools of Philadelphia and especially in the Central High School. I wish to honor the memory of that mother by practically encouraging and rewarding the practice of the same high principles by the Students and Graduates of the School."

Mr. Barnwell left his entire residuary estate, amounting to upwards of $320,000 for the benefit of the students and the graduates of the Central High School of Philadelphia. This Trust is named the Mary Gaston Barnwell Foundation, in honor of the Testator's mother, and is administered by the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Company as Trustee. Under the Plan of Administration, a Committee of three members, consisting of the President of the Central High School, the President of the Associated Alumni, and the President of the Fidelity-Philadelphia Trust Company, is an ex-officio Advisory Committee.

The Foundation became operative in 1922 and has initiated various activities to carry out the intentions of the Testator. In addition to establishing a Lectureship in Ethics and making grants for the purchase of appropriate books for the Central High School Library, it established the Barnwell Honor Roll of meritorious students and co-operated with the Associated Alumni in the erection of two concrete grandstands on Houston Field, the School's athletic grounds.

The Barnwell Course of Addresses by notable leaders in education, letters, art, music, athletics, and allied fields of interest was begun in March, 1922. A complete list of the Barnwell speakers and their subjects forms part of this program. At the present time there are usually four Barnwell Addresses during the school year.

STORY OF THE OPERA

The opera "MARTHA," by Friedrich Freiherr von Flotow, is one of the most popular ever produced. It was first sung in Paris in 1844, and had its New York première in 1852. The leading roles have been sung by Caruso, Hempel, Sembrich, Homer, Plançon, and many other outstanding artists.

The lovely Lady Harriet, maid of honor to Queen Anne, is wearied by the monotony of court life. The songs of the peasants on their way to the fair, at Richmond, incite her to accompany them in disguise under the name of Martha. Her cousin, Sir Tristan de Mickleford, and her maid, Nancy, are induced to accompany her.

Two young farmers, Plunkett and Lionel, offer to hire Martha and Nancy as servants. They accept the earnest-fee which legally binds them to their masters for twelve months. Tristan attempts to turn the affair into a joke fail and he is driven from the fair. Lady Harriet now sees she has gone too far to withdraw. The young men carry her and Nancy off to their farm-house and finding them unacquainted with menial duties, proceed to instruct them. This occurs in the Second Act, which is to be sung on this evening's program. Lionel falls in love with Martha and when they are alone asks her to marry him. The lady laughs at him. After the farmers have retired for the night, Tristan, who has traced their whereabouts, enters and carries off Martha and Nancy.

Sometime later, Lionel encounters Lady Harriet while she is on a hunting party with the Queen. He pleads his passion with more warmth than before and insists upon the fulfillment of her contract. The hunters arrive and Lady Harriet informs them that Lionel is mad. The lover is almost crazed by her indifference. Lionel's father, on his death-bed, gave him a ring, with the charge that whenever Lionel is in distress, the ring should be given to the Queen. The ring is presented to the royal hands by Lady Harriet and Lionel proves to be the only son of the banished Earl of Derby. The young earl is reinstated in his rank but his mind is distracted and he will take no comfort even from the lips of Lady Harriet, who offers him her hand and heart. Lady Harriet gets up an impromptu affair in her own park modelled after that in which Lionel first saw her and attends with Nancy in peasant costume. Lionel's wandering senses are brought back by the light of memory and he is made happy in the possession of his beloved Martha. Nancy and Plunkett decide to follow the example set them by Martha and Lionel.

The familiar aria, "The Last Rose of Summer," sung by Lady Harriet (Martha) in the Second Act, is an old Irish air interpolated by von Flotow. The words are by Sir Thomas Moore.
